Bottom line

Portal Innovations is a life-sciences venture firm that runs equipped lab space for startups, including Fulton Labs in Chicago's Fulton Market (400 N Aberdeen). It has about 26 staff, no signals and no contacts in HubSpot or Apollo. Portal itself is a small buyer. The value is in its buildings: every biotech and research tenant needs connectivity, and research data is heavy. Treat Portal like a landlord: find the facilities lead and offer to light the building.

What Portal is, in one analogy

Portal is the owner of a co-working kitchen for scientists. Sell the building a better water main, and every tenant benefits.

How the access path should run

Messages, by contact

1. Facilities lead (to find) Lab Operations

Why them: Building partner.

Channel: Email after finding | Subject: Fiber for Fulton Labs tenants

Hi, Crosstown owns underground fiber in Chicago. If Fulton Labs tenants need more bandwidth or a diverse path for research data, we'd be glad to look at lighting 400 N Aberdeen directly. Who handles building connectivity?

The plan

| When       | Move                                                                     | Notes        |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| Fri Oct 9  | LinkedIn and ZoomInfo search for Portal's operations or facilities lead. | 15 minutes.  |
