Bottom line

Shirley Ryan AbilityLab is a 2,800-person rehabilitation hospital and research institute at 355 E Erie in Streeterville. In late September it posted a cluster of audience-A intent: Network Infrastructure 100, Equinix 96, Networking Solutions 91, plus Networking/Telecom 88. On Sep 24 it promoted Levi Hargrove to VP, Strategic Research Infrastructure. Nobody has contacted it. The IT buyer is Mariusz Mazek, Executive Director of IT Operations, with Kamrul Ahmed (Network Engineer) as the technical contact. This is one of the best untouched enterprise opportunities on your list.

What SRALab is, in one analogy

A hospital network is a life-support line: it can't have a single point of failure. SRALab is shopping for a backup line right now, and Crosstown runs the road from Streeterville to the data centers.

How the access path should run

Messages, by contact

1. Mariusz Mazek Executive Director, IT Operations

Why them: Owns IT; signals point at Equinix.

Channel: Email Mon Oct 5 + call Wed Oct 7 | Subject: Diverse paths from 355 E Erie to Equinix

Mariusz, if SRAlab is looking at Equinix or a network refresh, Crosstown owns underground fiber in Chicago, on-net at Equinix and Digital Realty at 350 E Cermak, mapped to the conduit. For a hospital, that means you can prove the backup path doesn't share a duct with the primary. Could we walk through it for 20 minutes?

2. Kamrul Ahmed Network Engineer

Why them: Technical follow-up.

Channel: Email Thu Oct 8 | Subject: Chicago conduit map (KMZ)

Kamrul, I can send our Chicago route map in KMZ so your team can check current circuits from Streeterville for shared paths. Want it?
