

AER Worldwide: an IT disposal firm; a referral partner for data centers

Account entry plan for Spencer Refer | Prepared Thursday, October 1, 2026 | Sources: HubSpot, Lemlist, ZoomInfo

90 Data Center intent (Sep 5)	~198 employees	2 IT directors known	0 replies so far
STAGE Prospect. Low fit as a buyer.	RUNNING NOW CTF ENT - Leaders (Sukhmit Kaur; 3 notes Sep 30)	LAST TOUCH Sep 30: enrollments	NEXT STEP Fri Oct 9: one partner-style email to Mark Regalado (IT Director)

Bottom line

AER Worldwide (Fremont, CA, about 198 people) handles IT asset disposition: it decommissions and recycles data center equipment. ZoomInfo shows Data Center 90 intent, probably because it serves data centers. As a fiber buyer it's small. As a referral partner it's interesting: AER is on site when data centers refresh, which is when connectivity is re-bought. Send one email, then park it unless a referral conversation starts.

What AER is, in one analogy

AER is the moving crew that clears out the old office; it knows who's moving in before anyone else does.

Messages, by contact

1. Mark Regalado IT Director

Why them: Partner probe.

Channel: Email Fri Oct 9 | Subject: Chicago data center refreshes

Mark, AER sees data center refreshes before most people do. Crosstown owns underground fiber in Chicago, and refreshes are when customers rethink connectivity. Would a simple referral arrangement for Chicago projects be useful to AER?
