Bottom line

Altice Portugal (MEO) is Portugal's largest telecom operator (about $3.2B revenue). Wholesale carriers like Altice buy US metro segments when their customers need to reach Chicago data centers. There are no signals. HubSpot has two records (altice.pt and telecom.pt) that should be merged. The right first contact is Joao Coelho (Wholesale Account Manager Coordinator); Carlos Rodrigues (Head of Core Network) is the technical sponsor. This is a low-volume, low-effort wholesale relationship.

What Altice Portugal is, in one analogy

Altice is an airline flying into Chicago. When its passengers land, they need a taxi to downtown. Crosstown runs the taxi stand.

Joao, when Altice's wholesale customers need to reach Chicago data centers, Crosstown owns underground fiber on-net at Equinix and Digital Realty (350 E Cermak) and Equinix CH3, mapped to the conduit. Happy to share a wholesale rate card and map.
