

CZ Biohub Chicago: data center intent at 99 and one network engineer

Account entry plan for Spencer Refer | Prepared Thursday, October 1, 2026 | Sources: HubSpot, ZoomInfo, Apollo

Bottom line

The Chan Zuckerberg Biohub is a nonprofit research network (about 252 staff overall), and its Chicago institute does data-heavy biology research. ZoomInfo shows Data Center 99 (audience A), Networking/Telecom 91 and Bandwidth 80, which is strong. HubSpot has one contact, David Stewart (Senior Network Engineer), also confirmed in Apollo. Research imaging and sequencing data is large, so diverse, high-capacity paths to data centers and research networks are a real need.

What CZ Biohub is, in one analogy

A research institute is a library that doubles in size every year. The loading dock (network) has to grow with it.

Channel: Email Tue Oct 6 | Subject: Data center paths for Biohub Chicago

David, if Biohub Chicago is looking at data center space or more capacity, Crosstown owns underground fiber in Chicago, on-net at Equinix and Digital Realty at 350 E Cermak, mapped to the conduit. Research data loads like yours need a path you can prove is separate. Can I send the KMZ?

The plan
