

Cato Networks: researching dark fiber, by name

Account entry plan for Spencer Refer | Prepared Thursday, October 1, 2026 | Sources: HubSpot, Lemlist, ZoomInfo

90 Dark Fiber intent, audience B	98 Bandwidth intent (Sep 26)	11 Cato contacts in HubSpot	0 replies so far
STAGE Prospect. No deal.	RUNNING NOW CTF ENT - Leaders (Vince Spina); Practitioners (Mejia, Todorovski, Mani); INTL (Toledano, Leibovich, Sheleg)	LAST TOUCH Oct 1: Ivan Torregroza emailed; Sep 30: Andres Robles, Udi Levi	NEXT STEP Mon Oct 5: email Tom Leibovich (Director of Infrastructure)

Bottom line

Cato is a $415M SASE provider: it runs its own global backbone of points of presence (PoPs) in data centers. ZoomInfo shows Dark Fiber intent 90, which is rare and exactly what Crosstown sells, plus Bandwidth 98 and Equinix 72. The backbone owner is Tom Leibovich (Director of Infrastructure), who sits in the international list. The Leaders slot went to a channel sales engineer.

What Cato is, in one analogy

Cato runs a private airline between cities. It's shopping for a runway in Chicago, and we own one.

Signals worth citing

Signal	Source	So what for the opener
Dark Fiber 90 (B), Sep 12	ZoomInfo intent	Direct fit.
Bandwidth 98 (Sep 26); Equinix 72 (Sep 19)	ZoomInfo intent	Capacity at Equinix.
Runs a global PoP backbone	Company profile	Chicago PoP interconnects.

Work already in motion

Several engineers emailed this week; the owner is in the wrong list.

How the access path should run

Messages, by contact

1. Tom Leibovich Director of Infrastructure

Why them: Backbone owner; matches dark fiber intent.

Channel: Email Mon Oct 5 (morning Israel time) | Subject: Dark fiber for Cato's Chicago PoP

Tom, Crosstown owns underground dark fiber in Chicago, on-net at Equinix CH1/CH2/CH4 at 350 E Cermak and CH3 in Elk Grove, mapped to the conduit. If Cato is adding capacity or diversity at its Chicago PoP, we offer IRUs and leases. Can I send the KMZ?
