Bottom line

EdgeTeam Technology is a technology advisor (agent) firm: EdgeTeam designs networks, infrastructure and security for mid-size companies, service providers and rural organizations. Agents like this sell connectivity on behalf of many carriers, and they're paid on what they sell. Crosstown's agent agreement pays 15% of monthly recurring revenue for the full contract term, including renewals, plus 7.5% of the one-time charge on dark fiber IRUs. Crosstown's product angle is simple: owner-direct underground fiber in Chicago, on-net at Equinix CH1/CH2/CH4 and Digital Realty at 350 E Cermak, Equinix CH3 in Elk Grove, and TierPoint on Polk, with KMZ maps and conduit-level diversity that most carriers can't show. Already emailed Sep 30; follow up personally. The goal isn't a sale to EdgeTeam Technology; it's a signed agency agreement and one registered net-new opportunity in the next 90 days.

What an agent partner is, in one analogy

An agent is a buyer's real-estate agent for networks. They don't buy the house, but they decide which houses their clients tour. Make sure Crosstown is on their tour list.

Channel: Email Mon Oct 5 (after Lemlist step 1) | Subject: Chicago fiber for EdgeTeam Technology's clients

Ileana, Crosstown owns underground fiber in Chicago, on-net at Equinix CH1/CH2/CH4 and Digital Realty at 350 E Cermak, Equinix CH3 in Elk Grove, and TierPoint on Polk, and we document diversity down to the conduit. If any of your clients need a Chicago path, a second route or data center connectivity, our agent program pays 15% of monthly recurring revenue for the life of the contract, renewals included (7.5% of the one-time charge on dark fiber IRUs). We register your deal before we quote, so it stays yours. Do you have 15 minutes next week? I'll send our KMZ and coverage list either way.

Guardrails

- Commission applies to net-new customers only. Before accepting a registration, check the account against Crosstown's existing customers and active prospects (including the accounts in these plans); overlaps need written approval and may pay differently.
- Per the agreement, the agent submits service, locations, customer and term before any quote, and marketing material needs Crosstown's written approval.
- Credits used: ZoomInfo company enrichment for 1 company.
