

Quantum Machines: IT hiring at a 12-month high; reach the IT directors

Account entry plan for Spencer Refer | Prepared Thursday, October 1, 2026 | Sources: HubSpot, Lemlist, ZoomInfo

12-mo high IT open roles (Sep 26)	~200 employees	2 IT directors in HubSpot	0 replies so far
STAGE Prospect. No deal.	RUNNING NOW CTF INTL (Yaron Ben-Moshe, Konstantine Dobromilsky), Sep 30	LAST TOUCH Sep 30: enrollments	NEXT STEP Thu Oct 8: confirm Quantum Machines' Illinois footprint, then email Yaron Ben-Moshe

Bottom line

Quantum Machines (Tel Aviv, about 200 people) makes the control systems that run quantum computers. It has a long-standing NVIDIA collaboration (CUDA-Q, NVQLink). IT and engineering hiring are both at 12-month highs, which usually means new sites or labs. Two IT directors are in HubSpot and the international list: Yaron Ben-Moshe (Supply Chain and IT) and Konstantine Dobromilsky (IT, IS and Cyber Security). Confirm whether it has a Chicago or IQMP presence before pitching.

What Quantum Machines is, in one analogy

Quantum Machines builds the cockpit for quantum computers. If it opens a hangar in Chicago, it'll need a runway: fiber.

Messages, by contact

1. Yaron Ben-Moshe Director, Supply Chain and IT

Why them: Owns IT purchasing.

Channel: Email Thu Oct 8 | Subject: Connectivity for Quantum Machines in Chicago

Yaron, if Quantum Machines is setting up in Chicago (IQMP or elsewhere), Crosstown owns underground fiber across the city, mapped to the conduit. We'd be glad to quote diverse connectivity for your site. Who handles that locally?

The plan

When	Move	Notes
Thu Oct 8	Check news and LinkedIn for a Chicago presence; email Yaron.	-
Nov 2	Park if no Illinois site.	-

What progress looks like (for management)
