

Tradeweb: colocation intent is high, but the campaign is aimed at the wrong people

Account entry plan for Spencer Refer | Prepared Thursday, October 1, 2026 | Sources: HubSpot, Lemlist, ZoomInfo

93 Colocation intent (Sep 5)	91 Data Center intent, audience A	27 Tradeweb contacts in HubSpot	0 replies so far
STAGE Prospect. No deal.	RUNNING NOW CTF ENT - Leaders (client integration, CISO); Practitioners (Leigh Pullen); INTL (infrastructure team)	LAST TOUCH Sep 30: enrollments only	NEXT STEP Mon Oct 5: email James Viani (Global Head of Infrastructure)

Bottom line

Tradeweb runs electronic bond, rates and equities markets (about $2.2B revenue, 1,600 people). In September ZoomInfo showed Colocation 93, Data Center 91 (audience A), Cloud 91 and Equinix 76. That's a facility project. The problem: the Leaders campaign went to client-integration VPs and the CISO, while the real infrastructure owners (James Viani, Sergey Ovsyannyk, Ivan Zakharchanka, Brian McCullough) were put in the international email-only list or not contacted. Re-aim the campaign this week.

What Tradeweb is, in one analogy

We've been knocking on the front office's door while the facilities team is out back, measuring for a new warehouse. Walk around the building.

Signals worth citing

Signal	Source	So what for the opener
Colocation 93, Data Center 91 (A), Cloud 91, Equinix 76	ZoomInfo intent	Facility project likely.

Work already in motion

Lots of enrollments, but aimed at the wrong roles.

How the access path should run

Messages, by contact

1. James Viani Global Head of Infrastructure

Why them: Owns the facility decision.

Channel: Email Mon Oct 5 | Subject: Tradeweb's Chicago colocation paths

James, if Tradeweb is reviewing colocation, Chicago is where the futures and rates hedges sit. Crosstown owns underground fiber on-net at Equinix CH1/CH2/CH4 and Digital Realty at 350 E Cermak, and CH3 in Elk Grove, mapped to the conduit. Happy to show which sites we can tie together on diverse paths.

2. Sergey Ovsyannyk Director, Network Engineering

Why them: Technical owner.

Channel: Email Wed Oct 7 | Subject: Chicago conduit map (KMZ)

Sergey, I can send our Chicago route map in KMZ, covering the Equinix and Digital Realty sites, so your team can check paths for shared conduit. Want it?
