

H5 Data Centers: a February meeting with next steps still open

Partner activation plan for Spencer Refer | Prepared Thursday, October 1, 2026 | Sources: HubSpot, Lemlist, ZoomInfo

Feb 20 meeting with AJ Steller	2 open next steps (KMZ, preliminary design)	~195 employees	0 joint deals logged
STAGE Partner: engaged in February, then stalled.	RUNNING NOW CTF PARTNER - Warm Network (draft): Hannah Dawson, AJ Steller	LAST TOUCH Feb 20: meeting recap (next steps: KMZ, preliminary design, loop in Rabin at H5); one LinkedIn message to Rabin, no reply; Oct 1: emailed AJ the KMZ and asked for the Rabin intro	NEXT STEP Wait for AJ's intro to Rabin (emailed Oct 1); nudge AJ Thu Oct 8 if no reply

Bottom line

H5 Data Centers (Colorado, about 195 people) is developing in Chicago. On Feb 17-20 you met AJ Steller (Director of Interconnection Strategy) about H5's Chicago development: vision, timelines, power and proximity to network hubs. The agreed next steps were to share the KMZ, start a preliminary design based on its point-of-entry details, and loop in Rabin on H5's side, who is tied to the go-to-market launch of H5's Chicago data center near our network. One LinkedIn message to Rabin went unanswered. Go through AJ for the introduction. Nothing has been logged since. This is the warmest data center thread on your list; restart it with the deliverable, not a check-in.

What H5 is, in one analogy

H5 is building a new house and already asked to see our plumbing plan. We owe them the drawing.

Signals worth citing

How the access path should run

Messages, by contact

1. AJ Steller Director of Interconnection Strategy

Why them: We owe him the deliverables.

Channel: Email, sent Thu Oct 1 (personal, with KMZ attached) | Subject: KMZ and preliminary design for H5 Chicago

AJ, as promised in February, here's our Chicago KMZ. I'd like to keep the preliminary design moving for H5 Chicago's point of entry, and I'd value 30 minutes with Rabin on the go-to-market plan for the launch, since our routes sit right next to the site. Could you make that introduction? Happy to walk the site with you both.

The plan

When	Move	Notes
Fri Oct 2	Pull the KMZ; confirm Rabin's title and role on LinkedIn.	Internal.
Thu Oct 1 (done)	Emailed AJ with the KMZ; asked for the Rabin intro.	-
Thu Oct 8	If no intro, call AJ; second, value-led LinkedIn note to Rabin (launch connectivity).	-
Week of Oct 19	Meeting with AJ and Rabin: launch plan, point of entry, joint GTM.	-
Nov	Preliminary design and launch-partner proposal.	-

What progress looks like (for management)

By	Milestone	How we will know
Oct 9	KMZ delivered	Email logged
Oct 23	Meeting with Rabin held	Meeting logged
Dec 15	Proposal sent	Deal created

Guardrails

- Go through AJ for Rabin; a second cold message without an intro is the fallback, not the plan.
