Bottom line

Worldnet Solutions is a technology advisor (agent) firm: Worldnet Solutions is an intermediary for managed, carrier, UC, SD-WAN and security services. Agents like this sell connectivity on behalf of many carriers, and they're paid on what they sell. Crosstown's agent agreement pays 15% of monthly recurring revenue for the full contract term, including renewals, plus 7.5% of the one-time charge on dark fiber IRUs. Crosstown's product angle is simple: owner-direct underground fiber in Chicago, on-net at Equinix CH1/CH2/CH4 and Digital Realty at 350 E Cermak, Equinix CH3 in Elk Grove, and TierPoint on Polk, with KMZ maps and conduit-level diversity that most carriers can't show. No contact on this record; may be related to Worldnet Corp (Evan Depasquale). The goal isn't a sale to Worldnet Solutions; it's a signed agency agreement and one registered net-new opportunity in the next 90 days.

What an agent partner is, in one analogy

An agent is a buyer's real-estate agent for networks. They don't buy the house, but they decide which houses their clients tour. Make sure Crosstown is on their tour list.

Guardrails

- Commission applies to net-new customers only. Before accepting a registration, check the account against Crosstown's existing customers and active prospects (including the accounts in these plans); overlaps need written approval and may pay differently.
- Per the agreement, the agent submits service, locations, customer and term before any quote, and marketing material needs Crosstown's written approval.
- Credits used: ZoomInfo company enrichment for 1 company.
